I. Qualifications and Assignment

A. Qualifications

1. I, Melissa Pittaoulis, am an Associate Director at NERA Economic Consulting (“NERA”) where I am a member of the Survey and Sampling Practice. My business address is 1717 Arch Street, Suite 1100, Philadelphia, PA 19103. NERA was founded in 1961 and provides economic, financial, and statistical research and analysis.

2. I earned a Ph.D. in Sociology from Temple University. My courses in graduate school focused on quantitative analysis. Among the courses I took are Research Design, Survey Research, Statistical Sampling, Social Statistics, Multivariate Statistics, and Hierarchical Linear Modeling. I have also taken “short courses” offered by the Joint Program in Survey Methodology, which is run by the University of Maryland. While I was a graduate student, I served as a teaching assistant in a graduate-level multivariate statistics class and as an instructor for undergraduate courses on statistics at Temple University.

3. I have worked on survey and sampling projects at NERA since 2003. As part of my survey work, I design research, write questionnaires, supervise data collection, and analyze data. As part of my sampling work, I select samples and calculate sample estimates and confidence intervals. In my more than ten years of experience, I have worked on survey and sampling projects in a wide variety of industries, including: automobiles, beverages, beauty products, clothing apparel, computers, durable goods, electronics, financial products, insurance, mobile phones, personal care products, pharmaceuticals, snack foods, and video games. The majority of these projects have been conducted in connection with legal disputes, primarily intellectual property and consumer class action matters. I have also worked on projects involving antitrust issues and employment-related litigation.

4. I am a member of the American Association of Public Opinion Research, the American Sociological Association, and the International Trademark Association. My curriculum vitae is attached as Exhibit A.

5. NERA is being compensated for my services in this matter at my 2016 standard rate of $455 per hour. No part of NERA’s or my compensation depends on the conclusions I reach or the outcome of this litigation. Throughout this report, I have used the terms “I” and “my” to refer to work performed by me and/or others under my direction.

6. A list of the documents I relied upon in preparing this expert report is attached as Exhibit B.

B. Background and Assignment

7. I was retained by counsel for Hi-Tech Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (“Hi-Tech”) in the matter of Hi-Tech Pharmaceuticals, Inc. v. Dynamic Sports Nutrition, LLC d/b/a Anabolic Research, PBB Trademark Holdings, LLC, and Brian Clapp. Hi-Tech sells, distributes, and manufactures dietary supplement products, including those designed for muscle and body building.¹ Defendants have owned and operated websites through which they have sold dietary supplements for muscle building.²

8. I was asked to design and conduct survey research to determine three things:

- (1) Do the websites Anabolics.com, BuySteroids.com, and Steroids.com give consumers the false impression that the products sold on these websites are anabolic steroids?
- (2) Do the descriptions of certain products sold by Defendants, namely CLEN, D-ANABOL 25, TEST-600x, and TREN 75, cause consumers to believe that using these products would lead to specific results?
- (3) Are certain advertising claims material to consumers’ purchasing decisions regarding muscle-building supplements?

This report describes the results of my survey research, as well as the survey methodology I used.

II. Summary of Findings

9. To address my research objectives, I designed two different online surveys. In the first survey, approximately 600 respondents from the relevant population were surveyed to determine whether consumers who viewed Defendants’ websites believed the products sold on those websites were anabolic steroids. In the second survey, approximately 800 respondents from the relevant population were surveyed to determine whether the statements made about four products sold on Defendants' webpages – CLEN, D-ANABOL 25, TEST-600x, and TREN 75 – cause consumers to believe that using the products would lead to certain specific results (e.g., “reduces body fat,” “increases muscle size,” “increases strength,” “increases stamina and endurance,” and “improves sexual performance and sexual stamina”). In this second survey, I also asked questions to determine the extent to which certain advertising claims would influence consumers' purchasing decisions. Hereinafter, I refer to these surveys as the “Survey 1” and the “Survey 2,” respectively.

10. In both surveys, respondents were randomly assigned to either a test or a control group. However, each survey had its own test and control conditions and stimuli. Survey 1 had three test conditions and one control condition, while Survey 2 had four test conditions and four control conditions.

11. In Survey 1, the three test stimuli were the homepages for Anabolics.com, BuySteroids.com, and Steroids.com.³ For the control stimulus, the Anabolics.com homepage was altered to create a homepage called MuscleBuildingProducts.com. Approximately 200 respondents were assigned to the Anabolics.com test group, 100 were assigned to the BuySteroids.com test group, 100 were assigned to the Steroids.com test group, and 200 were assigned to the control group.

12. In Survey 2, all test respondents, regardless of the test group to which they were assigned, viewed the Anabolics.com homepage. However, the individual product description pages shown to the respondents varied: test group respondents were randomly assigned to see one of four pages—either the CLEN, D-ANABOL 25, TEST-600x, or TREN 75 page. All control group respondents viewed the MuscleBuildingProducts.com homepage and then were randomly assigned to see a control page for one of these same four products. This design led to approximately 100 respondents in each of the eight conditions.

13. The key findings from these two studies are as follows:

³ Respondents in the group that viewed the Anabolics.com homepage were also shown the individual product pages for CLEN, D-ANABOL 25, TEST 600x, and TREN 75. No other group, including the control group, was shown these pages.

Survey 1

- In response to an open-ended question, 54.5 percent and 47.0 percent of respondents who viewed the BuySteroids.com and Steroids.com homepages, respectively, believed that the types of products sold on these pages included “anabolic steroids” or “steroids.” Among respondents who viewed the Anabolics.com homepage, 7.0 percent indicated that the types of products sold on the website included steroids. Only 1.0 percent of respondents in the control group said that the website sold steroids.
- When asked directly about CLEN, 54.5 percent of consumers in the BuySteroids.com test group, 51.0 percent of consumers in the Steroids.com test group, and 25.9 percent of consumers in the Anabolics.com test group reported that the product was an anabolic steroid. Among the control group, 11.9 percent of respondents believed the control product was an anabolic steroid.
- When asked directly about D-ANABOL 25, a majority of respondents in each test group (80.2 percent in the BuySteroids.com group, 84.0 percent in the Steroids.com group, and 61.2 percent in the Anabolics.com group) indicated that it was an anabolic steroid. Among the control group, 44.3 percent believed the control product was an anabolic steroid.
- When asked directly about TEST-600x, a majority of respondents in each test group (68.3 percent in the BuySteroids.com group, 67.0 percent in the Steroids.com group, and 54.2 percent in the Anabolics.com group) reported that it was an anabolic steroid. Among the control group, 34.3 percent believed the control product was an anabolic steroid.
- When asked directly about TREN 75, 73.3 percent of consumers in the BuySteroids.com test group, 71.0 percent of consumers in the Steroids.com test group, and 43.3 percent of consumers in the Anabolics.com test group reported that the product was an anabolic steroid. Among the control group, 25.9 percent believed the control product was an anabolic steroid.

- The results for the test groups show that substantial numbers of respondents believe that the products at issue are anabolic steroids. To determine whether such beliefs are attributable to specific elements of the webpages, namely the domain names and product names, it is necessary to compare the test group results to the control group results. The percentage of respondents in the control group who believe that the product is an anabolic steroid is a measure of the extent to which respondents' beliefs are due to elements of the webpage that were not changed in the control stimulus (e.g., the product descriptions, the consumer reviews), pre-existing beliefs about muscle-building products, or survey noise (e.g., guessing or the survey design itself). By subtracting the control group's response levels from each of the test groups' response levels, I can estimate the level of confusion about the type of products that is specifically attributable to the combination of the website name (i.e., the domain name) and the product names. These estimates are generally known as "net differences" or "net rates."
- Among those who viewed the BuySteroids.com homepage, the net rates ranged from 34.0 percent for TEST-600x to 47.4 percent for TREN 75. Among those who viewed the Steroids.com homepage, the net rates ranged from 32.7 percent for TEST-600x to 45.1 percent for TREN 75. Among those who viewed the Anabolics.com webpages, the net rates for respondents believing the product to be an anabolic steroid ranged from 13.9 percent for CLEN to 19.9 percent for TEST-600x. Based on my professional experience, these rates suggest that the combination of website and product names are likely to lead a substantial number of consumers to believe that the products sold on the website are anabolic steroids.

Survey 2

- Among test group respondents who viewed the CLEN product description page, 76.9 percent believed CLEN would reduce body fat and 57.7 percent believed that it would increase stamina and endurance.

- Among test group respondents who viewed the D-ANABOL 25 product description page, 76.5 percent believed D-ANABOL 25 would increase muscle size and 72.4 percent believed it would increase strength.
- Among test group respondents who viewed the TEST 600x product description page, 46.5 percent believed TEST 600x would reduce body fat, 71.3 percent believed it would increase muscle size, 75.2 percent believed it would increase strength, and 26.7 percent thought it would increase sexual performance and sexual stamina.
- Among test group respondents who viewed the TREN 75 product description page, 59.8 percent believed TREN 75 would reduce body fat and 77.5 percent believed it would increase muscle size.
- For each product description page, I showed a control group a corresponding control page that removed statements regarding the results in question. I then asked the control group respondents the same questions I asked the test group. Subtracting the control group response level from the test group response level yields “net rates” that measure the extent to which the test group response levels are attributable to the statements at issue rather than other elements of the webpage, survey noise, or pre-existing beliefs. These net rates varied by product and claim, ranging from 6.9 percent for the claim that TEST 600x increases muscle size to 39.9 percent for the claim that CLEN reduces body fat.
- I also included a control question that allowed me to measure the amount of survey noise in the test group responses. The control question asked respondents whether or not the product would increase flexibility—a claim that was not stated or suggested in any of the product description pages. The share of test respondents who believed the product would increase flexibility ranged from 18.8 percent for TEST 600x to 32.7 percent for CLEN. Subtracting the control question percentages from the test group percentages for the various claims yields net rates ranging from 7.9 percent for the claim that TEST 600x increases sexual performance and sexual stamina to 56.4 percent for the claim that TEST 600x increases strength. The fact that the net rates were generally higher when based on the control question, as opposed to the control group, suggests that pre-existing beliefs and/or elements of the webpages that were not changed in the control pages may have contributed to respondents' belief that the products would produce the specified result.

- Among all 804 respondents, at least two-thirds of respondents indicated that each of the following claims would make them more likely to purchase a product: (1) the product reduces body fat; (2) the product increases muscle size; (3) the product increases strength; and (4) the product increases stamina and endurance. In addition, 38.6 percent of respondents reported that information that a product would improve sexual performance and sexual stamina would make them more likely to purchase the product. In my professional opinion, these results suggest that these claims are likely to influence a substantial number of consumers' purchasing decisions.

III. Survey Methodology

14. I conducted the surveys in accordance with accepted survey research principles, such as those listed in the Federal Judicial Center's *Manual for Complex Litigation*⁴ and described in the Reference Manual on Scientific Evidence.⁵

15. Both surveys were conducted online. Survey Sampling International ("SSI"), a leading market research firm that specializes in sampling and data collection, programmed and hosted the surveys.⁶ SSI was founded in 1977 and has been providing online samples for many years.⁷ SSI maintains volunteer panels of individuals who agree to take online surveys in exchange for earning nominal incentives.⁸ For each of the two studies, SSI sent invitations to a sample of its panelists to complete the survey screeners and questionnaires that I provided.

16. For Survey 1, SSI collected data between January 20, 2017 and January 30, 2017, and a total of 603 respondents qualified and completed the survey. For Survey 2, SSI collected data between January 10, 2017 and January 25, 2017, and a total of 804 respondents qualified and completed the survey.

17. When conducting online studies, researchers sometimes use “click balancing.” In a click balanced study, the group of individuals who enter the survey (i.e., take the survey screener) are a representative sample of some defined population (e.g., the U.S. adult population). Click balancing allows for the possibility that the group of respondents who qualify for the study and complete the entire survey will have a different demographic makeup than the sample of respondents who answered the screener.⁹

18. Click balancing is a useful strategy for ensuring that the demographics of the overall sample are representative of the relevant population. However, when a study uses a design with multiple test/control conditions, click balancing may lead to test and control groups that do not have the same demographic makeup. Thus, quotas are preferable to click balancing if the researcher wants to ensure that the demographics of the individual test/control conditions are similar. I used click-balancing during the initial days of data collection to help me determine the age and gender quotas to set.

19. Specifically, for Survey 2 (the first survey for which data were collected), the inbound sample, i.e., the sample of potential respondents, was initially balanced on gender, age, and census region so that the distribution of potential respondents matched U.S. Census data. In other words, the distribution of respondents who started the survey by clicking the survey link closely matched those of the general U.S. adult population in terms of age, gender, and region.¹⁰ After the first few days of data collection, I instructed SSI to institute gender and age quotas for each test and control group that reflected the makeup of respondents who had qualified for the survey during the click balancing period. For gender, I instituted a quota for the samples to be 60 percent male and 40 percent female. For age, I instituted a quota for the samples to be no more than 40 percent for persons between the ages of 18-34, no more than 40 percent for persons between the ages of 35-49, no more than 20 percent for persons between the ages of 50-64, and no more than 5 percent for persons aged 65 or older. I used these same quotas for Survey 1. The gender distribution and age distribution of the qualified respondents who passed all quality control checks are shown in Table 1 for Survey 1 and Table 2 for Survey 2.

⁸ Survey Sampling International. 2017. “ESOMAR 28: 28 Questions to Help Research Buyers of Online Sample.” pp.5-6. Retrieved February 2, 2017 (<https://www.surveysampling.com/site/assets/files/1069/esomar-28-questions.pdf>).

20. The survey process was conducted in a double-blind manner. Respondents were unaware of the purpose and sponsor of the study. While the project managers at SSI were aware that this study was to be used in litigation, they did not know who NERA's client was, nor were they aware of the issues being litigated.

A. Survey Screener

21. I understand that the relevant population for this matter has been defined by the court as persons interested in products that assist in developing and maintaining muscle mass, including anabolic steroids as well as dietary supplements. To identify members of this population, I used the same screening criteria for both surveys. To qualify for the surveys, respondents had to:

- Complete the survey on a desktop, laptop, or tablet computer;
- Be 18 years of age or over;
- Live in the U.S.;
- Report that neither they nor anyone in their household are employed in any of the following: an advertising company, a market research firm, a fitness center or gym, a physician's or nutritionist's office, or a company that makes, sells, or distributes vitamins or supplements;

- Report that they had not taken a survey in the prior six months about products for building muscle mass, size, or strength; and
- Report that in the past 12 months they had purchased products for building muscle mass, size, or strength or that they expected to make such purchases in the next 3 months.

Respondents who indicated they had purchased products for increasing muscle mass, size, or strength within the prior 12 months were asked a follow up question as to whether they had visited or shopped on any websites selling muscle building products. Of the 449 respondents who indicated in Survey 1 that they had purchased muscle building products in the past 12 months, 85 percent indicated they had visited or shopped on websites selling muscle building products. Of the 602 respondents who indicated in Survey 2 that they had purchased muscle building products in the past 12 months, 86 percent indicated they had visited or shopping online for these products.

22. Although the screening criteria for the two studies was the same, the studies were conducted separately and each had its own unique sample.

B. Survey Stimuli

1. Survey 1

23. Respondents to Survey 1 were randomly assigned to one of four groups. Three of these groups were test groups that showed webpages owned and operated by the Defendants while the fourth group was a control group. Respondents assigned to one of the test groups were shown either the homepage for Anabolics.com, the homepage for BuySteroids.com, or the homepage for Steroids.com. Control group respondents were shown an altered version of the Anabolics.com homepage in which the domain name was changed to

MuscleBuildingProducts.com and references to “anabolics” or “growth hormones” were removed.¹¹ In addition the product names were altered to be the colors shown on the bottles.¹²

24. Respondents shown the homepage for Anabolics.com were also shown the product description pages for CLEN, D-ANABOL 25, TEST-600x, and TREN 75. This allowed me to test the possibility that reviewing additional website pages might alleviate any initial confusion respondents had about the types of products sold on the website.

25. Each of the webpages shown was a static image, meaning that the stimuli were not live webpages with working links. However, in order to allow respondents to view the product ingredients, the survey was programmed in such a way that if respondents clicked on the ingredients link at the bottom of the page, then the ingredients page would be shown in a pop-up window. Respondents were informed they could click on links that they were interested in clicking on, and that some of the links would open a new page.

26. The images used as test and control stimuli in Survey 1 can be found in Exhibit C.

2. Survey 2

27. In Survey 2, each respondent viewed two webpages: a homepage and a product description page. Respondents were first randomly assigned to one of two groups: test group respondents were shown the homepage for Anabolics.com while control respondents were shown an altered version of this page in which the name of the website was changed to MuscleBuildingProducts.com.¹³ After viewing the assigned homepage, respondents were subdivided further so that the survey included a total of eight “conditions” or “groups.” The test respondents (i.e., those that viewed the Anabolics.com homepage) were randomly assigned to see the product description page for one of four products advertised on the homepage: CLEN, D-ANABOL 25, TEST-600x, or TREN 75. Control respondents (i.e., those that viewed the MuscleBuildingProducts.com homepage) were randomly assigned to see one of four control pages for those same products. As shown in Exhibit D, the control pages removed certain claims from the product descriptions.

28. As with Survey 1, each of the webpages shown was a static image, meaning that the stimuli were not live webpages with working links. However, in order to allow respondents to view the product ingredients, the survey was programmed in such a way that if respondents clicked on the ingredients link at the bottom of the page, the ingredients page would be shown in a pop-up window. Respondents were informed they could click on links that they were interested in clicking on, and that some of the links would open a new page.

29. The images used as test and control stimuli in Survey 2 can be found in Exhibit E.

C. Main Questionnaire

1. Survey 1

30. After respondents qualified for Survey 1, they were taken to the main questionnaire and given the following instruction:

We are interested in your honest opinions. There are no right or wrong answers to the questions in this survey. If, for any question, you don't know the answer or don't have an opinion, please feel free to choose the "Don't know/no opinion" option. Please do not guess.

Please click on the ">" button below once you are ready to continue.

31. After respondents clicked the ">" button, they were shown the assigned homepage (i.e., either Anabolics.com, BuySteroids.com, Steroids.com, or MuscleBuildingProducts.com) and given the following instructions:

Please look at the webpage below. Please look at this webpage as you normally would if you were considering making a purchase from this website. The webpage is a real page from an actual website, but the image is not a live page. If there are links that you are interested in clicking on, please do so. Some, but not all, of the links will open a new page. Take as much time as you would like to review the webpage and when you are finished, click ">" to continue. To ensure that you have enough time to review the webpage, the ">" button will appear after a short delay.

32. In order to ensure respondents spent enough time reviewing the information on the webpage, the “>” button remained disabled for 20 seconds. Respondents could spend as much time beyond the initial 20 seconds on the page as needed to review the webpage material. All respondents were asked to verify that they were able to see the product clearly. Respondents who were unable to see the product were screened out of the study.

33. After viewing the assigned homepage, all respondents then answered two open-ended questions regarding the messages conveyed by the webpages. Respondents were asked:

“What message or messages does the webpage communicate to you?” and

“What else, if anything, did the webpage communicate to you?”

34. Next, all respondents were asked a close-ended question as to whether they believed a particular type of product was being described on the webpage:

“Is there a type or types of products that you believe are described on this webpage?”

1. Yes
2. No
3. Don’t know/No opinion”

If the respondent answered “yes” to this question, then an open-ended question immediately followed that asked:

“What type or types of products are described on this webpage?”

35. The subsequent survey flow depended upon which group the respondent was assigned. If the respondent was assigned to the Anabolics.com test group, then the respondent was taken to a new page and shown the following message:

Now we are going to show you the webpage again, along with the webpages of four of the products shown on the website.

Please look at the webpages as you normally would if you were considering purchasing the product shown. The webpages are real pages from an actual website, but the images are not live pages. If there are links that you are interested in clicking on, please do so. Some, but not all, of the links will open a new page. Take as much time as you would like and when you are finished, click “>” to continue. To ensure that you have enough time to review the webpage, the “>” button will appear after a short delay.

36. Once the Anabolics.com group respondent pressed the “>” button, the respondent was once more shown the Anabolics.com homepage and then subsequently shown the product descriptions pages for CLEN, D-ANABOL 25, TEST-600x, and TREN 75 in randomized order. Respondents did not have a delay to move forward past the homepage; however, there was a 15 second delay for each product page shown. After respondents viewed all of the webpages, they were asked whether they could clearly see all of the webpages. If the respondents indicated they were able to see all pages clearly, then they were taken to the next series of questions. If the respondents indicated they were unable to clearly see all of the webpages, then they skipped the next series of questions and were taken to final data quality control questions.

37. If the respondents were assigned to either of the other two test groups (i.e. BuySteroids.com or Steroids.com) or to the control group (i.e. MuscleBuildingProducts.com), they did not see the product description pages shown to the Anabolics.com group and were instead taken directly to the next series of questions.

38. All respondents, regardless of group, were then asked a series of closed- and open-ended questions to test whether respondents believed any of the four products were anabolic steroids. For each of the four products, respondents were asked the following closed-ended question:

Based on your review of the webpage/the webpages¹⁴ you just viewed, which, if any, of the following do you think [INSERT PRODUCT NAME]¹⁵ is? Select all that apply

1. Anabolic Steroid
2. Dietary Supplement
3. Herbal Supplement
4. Amino Acid
5. Vitamin
6. None of these

¹⁴ The MuscleBuildingProducts.com, BuySteroids.com, and Steroids.com test groups saw the word webpage, while the Anabolics.com group saw the word webpages.

¹⁵ The Anabolics.com, BuySteroids.com, and Steroids.com test groups saw the product name, whereas the MuscleBuildingProducts.com control group saw the color name. Control group respondents saw instead of:

- CLEN – “the PURPLE product”;
- D-ANABOL 25 – “the RED product”;
- TEST 600x – “the LIGHT BLUE product”; and
- TREN 75 – “the GREEN product”.

- 7. Other (Specify)
- 8. Don't know/no opinion

To guard against order effects, the order in which the first five response options was shown was randomized across respondents. In addition, while all respondents were asked about each of the four products, the order in which the products were asked about was randomized across respondents. To allow respondents the opportunity to review the webpage again, below each question and above the answer choices, the survey provided a link to view the website homepage.

39. For each of the products the respondent identified as an anabolic steroid, the respondent was asked an open-ended question asking "You mentioned that you thought [INSERT PRODUCT NAME] is an anabolic steroid. What makes you say that?"

40. The survey concluded with several questions used to address data quality. These questions are described in Section III.D of my report. In addition, I also asked two questions about the types of products for building muscle mass, size, or strength that respondents purchased in the past 12 months or expected to purchase in the next 3 months.

41. The complete Survey 1 questionnaire is provided in Exhibit F, and screenshots of the survey as it appeared to respondents are provided in Exhibit G.

2. Survey 2

42. As with Survey 1, after qualifying for the survey, respondents were taken to the main questionnaire, which began with the following instruction:

We are interested in your honest opinions. There are no right or wrong answers to the questions in this survey. If, for any question, you don't know the answer or don't have an opinion, please feel free to choose the "Don't know/no opinion" option. Please do not guess.

Please click on the ">" button below once you are ready to continue.

43. After respondents clicked the ">" button, they were shown the assigned webpage (i.e., either Anabolics.com or MuscleBuildingProducts.com) along with the following instructions:

Please look at the webpage below. Please look at this webpage as you normally would if you were considering making a purchase from this website. The webpage is a real page from an actual website, but the image is not a live page. If there are links that you are interested in clicking on, please do so. Some, but not all, of the links will open a new page. Take as much time as you would like to review the webpage and when you are finished, click ">" to continue. To ensure that you have enough time to review the webpage, the “>” button will appear after a short delay.

In order to ensure respondents spent time reviewing the information on the webpage, the “>” button remained disabled for 20 seconds. Respondents could spend as much time beyond the initial 20 seconds on the page as needed to review the webpage material. All respondents were asked to verify that they were able to see the product clearly. Respondents who were unable to see the product were screened out of the study.

44. After viewing the assigned homepage, respondents were then shown the assigned product description webpage, along with the following instruction:

Now we are going to show you the webpage of one of the products shown on the website. Please look at this webpage as you normally would if you were considering purchasing the product shown. If there are links that you are interested in clicking on, please do so. Some, but not all, of the links will open a new page. Take as much time as you would like and when you are finished, click “>” to continue.

Once more, in order to ensure respondents spent time reviewing the product’s information the “>” button remained disabled for 20 seconds. Respondents could spend as much time beyond the initial 20 seconds on the page as needed to review the webpage material. Respondents were again asked to verify that they were able to see the product clearly. Respondents who were unable to see the product description were screened out of the study.

45. Respondents were then asked to identify the name of the product they reviewed on the second webpage they viewed. In both the test and control conditions, 83 percent of respondents correctly identified the name of the product reviewed. Next, respondents were asked two open-ended questions to capture their top-of-mind recollections regarding what the webpage conveyed about the product shown.

46. The next series of questions asked respondents whether, based on their review of the product’s webpage, they believed the product would lead to certain results. The “results” respondents were asked about varied based upon the product description page shown; however, the questions all followed the same format in that they were closed-ended questions with four response options indicating: (1) the product would lead to the result; (2) the product would not lead to the result; (3) there was not information to determine whether the product would lead to the result; and (4) a don't know option.¹⁶ For example, respondents who viewed the D-ANABOL 25 product description page were asked:

Based on your review of this product's webpage, do you think this product...

1. Would increase muscle size
2. Would not increase muscle size
3. There is not enough information to determine whether or not this product would increase muscle size
4. Don't know/no opinion

If respondents indicated that they thought the product either would or would not lead to the result (e.g., "would increase muscle size" or "would not increase muscle size" for D-ANABOL 25), they were asked the open-ended follow-up question, "What makes you say that?"

47. In addition to asking about certain specific results, I also asked all respondents whether they thought the product would increase flexibility, a claim that was not stated or suggested in any of the product descriptions. This claim serves as a control that allows me to test the extent to which respondents might report that the product will achieve any result asked about in the survey, regardless of whether it appears on the webpage.

48. In the table below, I show the specific results asked about for each product.

	CLEN	D-ANABOL 25	TEST 600X	TREN 75
Would Reduce Body Fat	X		X	X
Would Increase Muscle Size		X	X	X
Would Increase Strength		X	X
Would Increase Stamina and Endurance	X
Would Increase Sexual Performance and Sexual Stamina			X
Would Increase Flexibility	X	X	X	X

49. Next, in order to test whether particular advertising claims influence consumers' likelihood of purchasing muscle-building products, all respondents, regardless of which webpages they viewed, were asked whether eight product claims would influence their purchase decisions.

¹⁶ To avoid order effects, the order of the first two options was rotated across respondents so that some respondents saw the "would not" version first. In addition, for each product, the question order was randomized.

Thinking about products like the ones shown on these webpages, would the following information influence or not influence your decision to purchase the product?

1. The product reduces body fat
2. The product increases muscle size
3. The product increases strength
4. The product increases stamina and endurance
5. The product improves sexual performance and sexual stamina
6. The product improves sleep
7. The product is endorsed by a celebrity
8. The product is shipped discreetly

The order in which the claims were listed was randomized so that different respondents saw the claims in different orders. The first five claims listed above are claims that I understand to be at issue in this case. I included the last three claims on the list as distractor items.

50. If respondents indicated a particular claim would influence their decision to purchase the product, then in the subsequent question respondents were asked how these claims would influence their purchasing decisions. Specifically, I asked:

Thinking about products like the ones shown on these webpages, would the following information make you:

- More likely to purchase the product over other similar products
- Neither more nor less likely to purchase the product over other similar products
- Less likely to purchase the product over other similar products
- or do you not know?

51. The survey concluded with several questions used to address data quality. These questions are described in the Section III.D of my report. In addition, I also asked two questions about the types of products for building muscle mass, size, or strength that respondents purchased in the past 12 months or expected to purchase in the next 3 months.

52. The complete Survey 2 questionnaire is provided in Exhibit H, and screenshots of the survey as it appeared to respondents are provided in Exhibit I.

D. Data Quality

53. To ensure that the data were of high quality, the survey included procedures and questions that would allow me to validate the respondents' identities and identify distracted respondents. First, SSI used "digital fingerprinting technology" to identify and exclude any respondent who attempted to take the survey more than one time.¹⁷ Second, at the beginning of the each survey, respondents were asked to complete a CAPTCHA question.¹⁸ A CAPTCHA question asks respondents to enter a code as it appears in an image, which helps to make sure that a person is completing the survey rather than a computer “bot.” Third, to validate the survey respondents’ identities, I instructed SSI to terminate any respondents who, when answering the screener, reported a gender or age that was different than the gender or age SSI has on file in its panel database.

54. Because the survey required respondents to view webpage images, I asked respondents to confirm that they were able to see the images clearly. Respondents who could not see the images clearly were screened out of the study. Survey 1 Survey 2

55. To identify respondents who were distracted while taking the surveys, I included the following “red herring” question:

This question is a little different. While most people carefully read and respond to the questions in our surveys, a small number do not. To verify that you have read this question carefully, please select the [X] response from the list below.

1. Extremely Important
2. Very Important
3. Somewhat Important
4. Not at all Important
5. Don’t know

Respondents were randomly assigned a response option to select. This means that some respondents were instructed to choose the first option, some were instructed to choose the second, and so on. Respondents who answered this question incorrectly were screened out of the survey.

56. Lastly, I asked the five following questions to ensure that respondents had followed the instructions given at the beginning of the survey:

- At any time during this survey, did you open any other windows or tabs on this computer?

¹⁷ Using this technology, each respondent is assigned a digital fingerprint based on information gathered from his or her computer (e.g., IP address, operating system, browser type, etc.).

¹⁸ For more information on how CAPTCHA works, see Carnegie Mellon University’s website, “The Official CAPTCHA Site.” 2010. Retrieved February 2, 2017 (<http://www.captcha.net/>).

- At any time during this survey, did you use any other computer?
- At any time during this survey, did you look at or use any hand-held electronic device, such as a cell phone or tablet computer?
- At any time during this survey, did you view any written material (other than this survey)?
- At any time during this survey, did you consult or talk with someone else?

Respondents who answered “Yes” to any of these questions were screened out of the survey.

IV. Survey Results

A. Survey 1

57. As described earlier, the first open-ended question series in the main questionnaire asked respondents about the messages communicated by the homepages. Respondents saw two back-to-back messaging questions in order to capture any additional top-of-mind messages the respondent believed were communicated but may have not mentioned in response to the first iteration of the question. As a reminder, respondents were asked:

“What message or messages does the webpage communicate to you?” and

“What else, if anything, did the webpage communicate to you?”

58. In order to avoid double-counting of messages, if a respondent identified the same message in both versions of the question, then the message would only be counted once. In Table 3, I present a summary of the main message verbatim answers given by respondents. Of those respondents who viewed the BuySteroids.com homepage and Steroids.com homepage, 64.4 percent and 51.0 percent of respondents respectively reported that the main message of the webpages was about “anabolic steroids” or “steroids.” Of those who viewed the Anabolics.com homepage, 7.0 percent reported that the main message of the website was about “anabolic steroids” or “steroids” compared to 1.0 percent of control group respondents who viewed the MuscleBuildingProducts.com homepage. Other common main messages included a more general message that the websites were about muscle building, as well as the promotional deals and wide variety of products available for purchase.

59. Table 4 shows that when asked an open-ended question about the type of product sold on the webpage, 54.5 percent of those who viewed the BuySteroids.com homepage and 47.0

percent of those who viewed Steroids.com homepage reported that the website sold “anabolic steroids” or “steroids. Among those who viewed the Anabolics.com homepage, 7.0 percent reported that the website sold “anabolic steroids” or “steroids” compared to 1.0 percent of control group respondents who viewed the MuscleBuildingProducts.com homepage.

60. In Tables 5a and 5b, I present the share of respondents who reported that CLEN was an anabolic steroid. As shown in Table 5a, 54.5 percent of respondents who viewed BuySteroids.com, 51.0 percent of respondents who viewed Steroids.com, and 25.9 percent of respondents who viewed Anabolics.com reported that CLEN was an anabolic steroid. By comparison, 11.9 percent of control group respondents thought that the Purple product was an anabolic steroid. Table 5b shows the net differences after taking the control results into account. These range from 13.9 percent for Anabolics.com to 42.5 percent for BuySteroids.com.

61. In Tables 6a and 6b, I present the share of respondents who reported that D-ANABOL 25 was an anabolic steroid. As shown in Table 6a, 80.2 percent of respondents who viewed BuySteroids.com, 84 percent of respondents who viewed Steroids.com, and 61.2 percent of respondents who viewed Anabolics.com reported that D-ANABOL 25 was an anabolic steroid. By comparison, 44.3 percent of control group respondents thought that the Red product was an anabolic steroid. Table 6b shows the net differences after taking the control results into account. These range from 16.9 percent for Anabolics.com to 39.7 percent for Steroids.com.

62. Tables 7a and 7b show the results for TEST-600x while Tables 8a and 8b show the results for TREN 75. These tables show high percentages of test group respondents believe the product is an anabolic steroid. After subtracting the control group responses from the Anabolics.com responses, the net rates for believing that TEST-600x and TREN 75 are anabolic steroids are 19.9 percent and 17.4 percent, respectively. Among those who viewed either the BuySteroids.com or Steroids.com pages, the net rates ranged from 32.7 percent to 34.0 percent for TEST-600x, and from 45.1 to 47.4 percent for TREN 75.

B. Survey 2

63. As mentioned earlier, respondents were asked two open-ended questions regarding the messages conveyed about the product shown. Table 9 shows the most commonly-cited messages respondents reported were conveyed on the webpage. Of the specific products effects described, the most commonly-cited effect for both groups was muscle building, with 56.3 percent of test group and 30.3 percent of control group respondents indicating the products would have such an effect. Twenty-eight percent of test respondents as compared to 5.0 percent of control respondents reported an effect of the products was weight loss. Few respondents in either group reported the products' effects included energy boosting, improved sleep, sexual performance, or stamina and endurance.

1. CLEN

64. As shown in Table 10a, among the 104 test group respondents who viewed the CLEN product description page, 76.9 percent reported that the product would reduce body fat, 57.7 percent reported that it would increase stamina and endurance, and 32.7 percent indicated it would increase flexibility.

65. Among the 100 control group respondents who viewed the CLEN (control) product description page, 37.0 percent reported that the product would reduce body fat, 45.0 percent reported that it would increase stamina and endurance, and 36.0 percent indicated it would increase flexibility.

66. In designing the survey, I included two types of controls: a control group and a control question. The control group allows me to test whether respondents' perceptions are attributable to specific elements of the webpage. The control group viewed a webpage that is identical to the webpage shown to the test group, with the exception of the elements being tested. The control group measures the extent to which the responses are due to pre-existing beliefs, guessing, other elements of the webpage, or the survey design itself. Subtracting the control group's response levels from the test group's levels provides a measure of the effect of the tested webpage elements on the respondents' perceptions. Table 10a shows the net differences between the test and control group responses. Among respondents who viewed the CLEN product description page, the net difference for the belief that it would reduce body fat is $(76.9\% - 37.0\%) = 39.9$ percent. The net difference for the belief that CLEN would increase stamina and endurance is $(57.7\% - 45.0\%) = 12.7$ percent. Both of these percentages indicate that the claims made about CLEN in the test webpages make respondents more likely to think the product will have these effects. In contrast, the net difference for "would increase flexibility"—a claim that was not stated in or suggested by the webpage—is $(32.7\%-36.0\%) = -3.3$ percent. In other words, the test and control groups responded similarly to the question about flexibility.

67. When comparing test and control group results, the question about flexibility provides a useful contrast to the questions on the claims at issue. However, the question also serves as a control in its own right. As a control question, it can be used to test the alternative hypothesis that respondents would have said that the product would have led to any “result” asked about in the survey. As shown in Table 10b, when used as a control question, the net differences for the claims that CLEN would reduce body fat and would increase stamina are $(76.9\%-32.7\%) = 44.2$ percent and $(57.7\%-32.7\%) = 25.0$ percent, respectively.

2. D-ANABOL 25

68. Among the 98 test group respondents who viewed the D-ANABOL 25 product description page, 76.5 percent reported that the product would increase muscle size, 72.4 percent reported that it would increase strength, and 29.6 percent indicated it would increase flexibility (Table 11a).

69. Among the 97 control group respondents who viewed the D-ANABOL 25 (control) product description page, 56.7 percent reported that the product would increase muscle size, 62.9 percent reported that it would increase strength, and 29.9 percent indicated it would increase flexibility.

70. Among respondents who viewed the D-ANABOL 25 product description page, the net difference for the belief that it would increase muscle size is 19.8 percent. The net difference for the belief that D-ANABOL 25 would increase strength is 9.6 percent. In contrast, the net difference for the belief that D-ANABOL 25 would increase flexibility is -0.3 percent.

71. Table 11b shows the net differences when the flexibility question is used as a control question. Among test group respondents who viewed the D-ANABOL 25 product description page, the net difference for “would increase muscle size” is 46.9 percent while the net difference for “Would increase strength” is 42.9 percent.

3. TEST-600x

72. As shown in Table 12a, among the 101 test group respondents who viewed the TEST-600x product description page, 46.5 percent reported that the product would reduce body fat, 71.3 percent reported that it would increase muscle size, 75.2 percent reported that it would increase strength, 26.7 percent reported that it would increase sexual performance and sexual stamina, and 18.8 percent indicated it would increase flexibility.

73. Among the 101 control group respondents who viewed the TEST-600x (control) product description page, 33.7 percent reported that the product would reduce body fat, 64.4 percent reported that it would increase muscle size, 64.4 percent reported that it would increase strength, 11.9 percent reported that it would increase sexual performance and sexual stamina, and 26.7 percent indicated it would increase flexibility.

74. Among respondents who viewed the TEST-600x product description page, the net difference for the belief that it would increase reduce body fat is 12.9 percent. The net difference for the belief that TEST-600x would increase muscle size is 6.9 percent. The net difference for the belief that TEST-600x would increase strength is 10.9 percent. The net difference for the belief that TEST-600x would increase sexual performance and sexual stamina is 14.9 percent. In contrast, the net difference for the belief that TEST-600x would increase flexibility is -7.9 percent.

75. Table 12b shows the net differences when the flexibility question is used as a control question. Among test group respondents who viewed the TEST-600x product description page, the net differences are 7.9 percent for “would increase sexual performance and sexual stamina,” 27.7 percent for “would reduce body fat,” 52.5 percent for would increase muscle size and 56.4 percent for would increase strength.

4. TREN 75

76. Among the 102 test group respondents who viewed the TREN 75 product description page, 59.8 percent reported that the product would reduce body fat, 77.5 percent reported that it would increase muscle size, and 29.4 percent indicated it would increase flexibility (Table 13a).

77. Among the 101 control group respondents who viewed the TREN 75 (control) product description page, 33.7 percent reported that the product would reduce body fat, 61.4 percent reported that it would increase muscle size, and 23.8 percent indicated it would increase flexibility.

78. Among respondents who viewed the TREN 75 product description page, the net difference for the belief that it would reduce body fat is 26.1 percent. The net difference for the belief that TREN 75 would increase muscle size is 16.1 percent. In contrast, the net difference for the belief that TREN 75 would increase flexibility is 5.6 percent.

79. Table 13b shows the net differences when the flexibility question is used as a control question. Among test group respondents who viewed the TREN 75 product description page, the net differences are 30.4 percent for “would reduce body fat” and 48.0 percent for would increase muscle size.

5. Materiality of Claims

80. Table 14 shows survey results regarding whether the claims at issue (i.e., “reduces body fat,” “increases muscle size,” “increases strength,” “increases stamina and endurance,” and “improves sexual performance and sexual stamina”) would influence respondents’ purchasing decisions. The share of respondents reporting that the claims at issue would influence their decision ranged from 46.4 percent for “improves sexual performance and sexual stamina” to 84.5 percent for “increases strength.” In contrast, fewer respondents indicated that a claim that a product is endorsed by a celebrity (18.8 percent) or shipped discreetly (37.4 percent) would influence their decision.

81. Respondents who indicated that a claim would influence their purchasing decisions were asked whether the claim would make them more likely, less likely, or neither more or less likely to purchase the product over other similar products. As shown in Table 15, two-thirds or more of respondents indicated that claims about reducing body fat, increasing muscle size, increasing strength, and increasing stamina and endurance would make them more likely to purchase the product. For the claim “improves sexual performance and sexual stamina”, 38.6 percent of respondents indicated that this claim would make them more likely to purchase the product.

V. Conclusion

82. I was asked to conduct survey research to evaluate consumer perceptions about the types of products sold on three websites that have been operated by Defendants, and specifically whether consumers believed that the websites sold anabolic steroids. I was also asked to conduct survey research to determine (1) whether or not certain product descriptions are likely to cause consumers to believe that using the products would lead to specific results and (2) whether certain advertising claims would influence consumers' purchasing decisions.

83. The results of Survey 1 demonstrate a substantial number of consumers believe that the Defendants' websites sell anabolic steroids. The results of Survey 2 demonstrate that the descriptions of CLEN, D-ANABOL 25, TEST-600x and TREN 75 on the product webpages are likely to lead a substantial number of consumers to believe that these products will lead to specific results. In addition, the survey also shows that the claims at issue are likely to influence consumers' purchasing decisions.

84. My opinions and conclusions as expressed in this report are to a reasonable degree of professional certainty. My work is ongoing and my opinions will continue to be informed by any additional material that becomes available to me.

Melissa Pittaoulis Associate Director

Dr. Pittaoulis is an Associate Director based in NERA's Philadelphia office. Dr. Pittaoulis specializes in survey research, statistical sampling, and demography. Her survey research experience includes designing research, writing questionnaires, supervising data collection, and analyzing data. In addition to designing surveys, Dr. Pittaoulis also reviews and evaluates third-party surveys.

Dr. Pittaoulis has extensive experience working on surveys used in intellectual property disputes concerning false advertising and trademark and trade dress infringement. In the area of trademark and trade dress infringement, Dr. Pittaoulis' project experience includes participating in the design of surveys used to establish likelihood of confusion, secondary meaning, and genericness. She has conducted false advertising and trademark surveys using different modes of data collection, including telephone, mall-intercept, and the Internet.

Dr. Pittaoulis also has experience designing and evaluating conjoint surveys used to assess the value of product features. Such surveys are used in a variety of contexts, including patent cases, class actions, and antitrust matters.

Dr. Pittaoulis' sampling expertise includes designing sampling plans, selecting samples, and calculating sample estimates and confidence intervals. Her demography work has concentrated on producing population estimates used in determining class certification.

Dr. Pittaoulis has worked on survey and sampling projects in a wide variety of industries, including: automobiles, beverages, beauty products, clothing apparel, computers, financial products, insurance, mobile phones, personal care products, pharmaceuticals, snack foods, and video games. In addition, Dr. Pittaoulis has considerable experience with radio and television audience measurement. She has also conducted studies on cost-sharing in the Medicare Part D program.

In addition to her work at NERA, Dr. Pittaoulis has taught statistics at the undergraduate level at Temple University.

Clen® - (Fat Loss, Stamina, Endurance, Energy, Appetite Control)

Watch video

When it comes to burning body fat and increasing stamina, nothing is more powerfully effective than Maximum Strength Clen®.

There are numerous fat loss products on the market, stimulants and fat burners alike, but Maximum Strength Clen® is truly unique for one very special reason...IT WORKS...IT ABSOLUTELY WORKS!

While we carry a host of the most effective and powerful muscle building products on the market, our most popularly requested formula is our Maximum Strength Clen® and the reasons are straightforward:

Clen® has been formulated with beta-2 receptor stimulation in mind and is designed to promote a simultaneously thermogenic and lipolysis effect. This action provides a significant metabolic boost and creates an internal environment that is perfect for fat loss. Not only does Clen® effectively help burn stubborn body fat, it can significantly reduce and help you control your hunger and cravings. A stronger and more powerful metabolism with more appetite control means one thing - Clen® will help you reach the lean physique you crave!

Surprisingly to some, Clen® is also a great tool for those who are looking to build up muscle mass or who are in what's commonly known as a "bulking phase." Gaining too much body fat is a common problem when bulking, but Clen® will help you control the unwanted fat gain so that your gains are of a higher quality. Athletes, be it high performance or endurance, will find Clen® to be invaluable as it has been designed to promote cardiovascular endurance and stamina, which means you will breath easier. All athletes from all walks of life will also find Clen® provides a significant boost of energy, which is always welcomed when training.

If you want to lose body fat, if you're looking to enhance your athletic performance or if you simply need a boost of energy or appetite control, you will find Clen® is the top choice to meet your needs. A highly effective product when used alone, the effects of Maximum Strength Clen® are a perfect addition to any performance stack.

Clen® was scientifically formulated to help:

- Rapidly Remove Body Fat*
- Efficiently Burn Fat Calories*
- Stimulate Fat Cells to Enhance the Breakdown of Triglycerides*
- Improve Stamina and Endurance*
- Safely and Substantially Reduce Appetite*

Directions For Use: This product contains 90 capsules and is designed to be a 30 day cycle. Take 1 capsule 3 times daily with 8 ounces of water. Doses should be spaced evenly throughout the day.

Tren 75®

Tren 75® - (Muscle Hardening, Power, Vascularity, Fat Burning)

Watch Tren-75® Video

The highly absorbable Tren 75® is in a class by itself, and is arguably one of the most potent muscle building formulations we have ever developed. Tren 75® will ensure its users the ability to achieve explosive strength and power, while maintaining a lean, hard and vascular appearance without unwanted "Water Retention" or Bloating.

One of the most frequently reported traits of our Tren 75® is how incredibly strong and powerful its users feel while maintaining a "Hard" and "Vascular" appearance. Tren 75® is the perfect choice when getting ready for summer, or for the high performance athlete that wants explosive power and strength without excessive weight gain.

A unique property of Tren 75® is its amazing ability to help incinerate stubborn body fat while increasing appetite and continuing to add high quality lean muscle, which makes it one of our most popular products currently available.

Tren 75® whether stacked or taken alone will help provide you with Dry, Lean, Hard Muscle of the highest quality.

*Tren 75® was designed and formulated to:

Generate Near Instant Metabolic Results*

Increase Appetite and Optimize Nutrient Absorption*

Produce Dry, Vascular, Dense Muscle, While Hardening and Cutting*

Improve Nitrogen Retention in Muscle Tissue*

Eliminate Muscle Blurring "Water Retention" and Bloat*

Incinerate Body Fat While Maintaining Muscle Mass*

Directions For Use:

Buy Steroids

They are often misunderstood but due to the nature of effects and benefits millions worldwide buy steroids every day; an estimated 6 million Americans buy steroids every year and a multitude of millions more the world over. Anabolic steroid use is not something new, athletes have been supplementing with them regularly since the 1950's and heavily since the 1970's increasing every year. Even before the advent of true synthetic steroid use for hundreds of years athletes supplemented with testicular extract looking for an advantage and hundreds of years later nothing has changed; the advantage is still desired. The question remains, with the hoopla that surrounds them use continues to increase but for many where to buy steroids is as complicated as trying figure out how to build a refrigerator box that will fly to the moon. There are several options you have when it comes time to make a purchase and we will discuss them all but if you're looking for legal and powerful anabolic tools we highly recommend you click on the banner above.

Buy Steroids on the Black Market:

It is one of the most common avenues of anabolic androgenic steroid purchase and it is without question often the most dangerous. With more underground labs than we can count there is a lot of dirty gear, fake gear and under-dosed gear on the black market; the majority of it is pure garbage. However, the prices are often so cheap compared to other avenues many risk the purchase only to be left disappointed in the end. Absolutely, there are some good sources on the black market who sell quality gear but the amount of poor sources is a plague. Further and this is beyond important, in countries such as the United States purchasing anabolic steroids on the black market is illegal; it doesn't matter if they're from an underground lab or a human grade source, in both cases it is illegal and serious consequences can occur if you buy steroids in this fashion.

Buy Steroids from your Doctor:

Many men who suffer from low testosterone legally buy steroids from their own doctor or a hormone replacement clinic every day. Granted, they will not be allowed to buy the amounts commonly associated with heavy performance enhancing but they will be receiving not only legal anabolics but clean and effective ones as well. Steroids such as testosterone of most forms, Deca-Durabolin, Anadrol, Anavar and Winstrol are common place as well as the powerful peptide hormone Human Growth Hormone. Yes, you will pay a far greater price in comparison to black market gear but you will be within the safety of the law and that makes this a very good deal indeed and one of the highest recommended outlets for those looking to buy steroids.

Many simply buy steroids from a friend at the gym; small steroid sales at most any gym are very common place but this does fall into the black market category in countries such as the U.S. As most of the gym sources are middle-men for middle-men the price is often very, very high. There are not too many steroid sources that sell openly in a gym, in most cases it's simply an individual who made a purchase from a source and is now reselling it to turn a small profit; it's not uncommon for this gear to change hands a multitude of times before it makes it to you and when it does you could pay 3-4 times the normal rate.

Making your own Steroids:

For numerous reasons many individuals forgo buying steroids on the black market or from a doctor and simply make their own. However, to buy the ingredients you'll need such as raw steroid powder, this purchase will be just as illegal in the United States as actually buying ready to use anabolic hormones. Many people believe this route is safer because you will not be dealing with a typical underground source and there is some truth to this assumption. Normally buying a little powder for your own personal use will go unnoticed and if you have the ability to make sterile gear you'll not only have a very cheaply obtained steroid but effective as well. Even so, you need to understand you are not safe by any means simply because you follow this protocol; if you are caught, even though you did not buy directly from a standard source you're going to be in more trouble than if you did. In countries such as the U.S. you can now be charged with manufacturing; a much more serious charge than simple possession. For this reason and while we will not recommend any illegal route, when it comes time to buy steroids this may be one of the most dangerous avenues of all.

The Bottom Line:

There are a lot of options and each one we've discussed runs much deeper and in several different directions; it's unfortunate that buying cigarettes is a much simpler process than the desire to buy steroids is for the everyday guy. Even so, there are legal avenues, you can obtain quality and potent anabolic supplements as we have discussed; yes, you read that correctly, "Supplements" in-truth they are simply supplements we use to aid in what we're already doing right. If you are looking for a quality, legal, very powerful and effective anabolic supplement, visit the banner above. If you've never used an anabolic supplement before be prepared to be amazed! If increased strength, increased muscle mass, a ripped physique and simply a better overall physique is what you're after, you'll be hard pressed to find better anabolic supplements than in the banner above.

Regardless of your decision in-terms of where you make a purchase, if you decide to buy steroids you should consult with your doctor first to make sure you are healthy enough for use. Those who already suffer from high blood pressure or high cholesterol will need to remedy this problem before use begins as steroid use can exasperate it.

Tren 75®

Tren 75® - (Muscle Hardening, Power, Vascularity, Fat Burning)

Watch Tren-75® Video

The highly absorbable Tren 75® is in a class by itself, and is arguably one of the most potent muscle building formulations we have ever developed. Tren 75® will ensure its users the ability to achieve explosive strength and power, while maintaining a lean, hard and vascular appearance without unwanted "Water Retention" or Bloating.

One of the most frequently reported traits of our Tren 75® is how incredibly strong and powerful its users feel while maintaining a "Hard" and "Vascular" appearance. Tren 75® is the perfect choice when getting ready for summer, or for the high performance athlete that wants explosive power and strength without excessive weight gain.

A unique property of Tren 75® is its amazing ability to help incinerate stubborn body fat while increasing appetite and continuing to add high quality lean muscle, which makes it one of our most popular products currently available.

Tren 75® whether stacked or taken alone will help provide you with Dry, Lean, Hard Muscle of the highest quality.

*Tren 75® was designed and formulated to:

Generate Near Instant Metabolic Results*

Increase Appetite and Optimize Nutrient Absorption*

Produce Dry, Vascular, Dense Muscle, While Hardening and Cutting*

Improve Nitrogen Retention in Muscle Tissue*

Eliminate Muscle Blurring "Water Retention" and Bloat*

Incinerate Body Fat While Maintaining Muscle Mass*

Directions For Use:

This product contains 90 capsules and is designed to be a 30 day cycle. Take 1 capsule 3 times daily with 8 ounces of water. Doses should be spaced evenly throughout the day.

Buy Steroids

They are often misunderstood but due to the nature of effects and benefits millions worldwide buy steroids every day; an estimated 6 million Americans buy steroids every year and a multitude of millions more the world over. Anabolic steroid use is not something new, athletes have been supplementing with them regularly since the 1950's and heavily since the 1970's increasing every year. Even before the advent of true synthetic steroid use for hundreds of years athletes supplemented with testicular extract looking for an advantage and hundreds of years later nothing has changed; the advantage is still desired. The question remains, with the hoopla that surrounds them use continues to increase but for many where to buy steroids is as complicated as trying figure out how to build a refrigerator box that will fly to the moon. There are several options you have when it comes time to make a purchase and we will discuss them all but if you're looking for legal and powerful anabolic tools we highly recommend you click on the banner above.

Buy Steroids on the Black Market:

It is one of the most common avenues of anabolic androgenic steroid purchase and it is without question often the most dangerous. With more underground labs than we can count there is a lot of dirty gear, fake gear and under-dosed gear on the black market; the majority of it is pure garbage. However, the prices are often so cheap compared to other avenues many risk the purchase only to be left disappointed in the end. Absolutely, there are some good sources on the black market who sell quality gear but the amount of poor sources is a plague. Further and this is beyond important, in countries such as the United States purchasing anabolic steroids on the black market is illegal; it doesn't matter if they're from an underground lab or a human grade source, in both cases it is illegal and serious consequences can occur if you buy steroids in this fashion.

Buy Steroids from your Doctor:

Many men who suffer from low testosterone legally buy steroids from their own doctor or a hormone replacement clinic every day. Granted, they will not be allowed to buy the amounts commonly associated with heavy performance enhancing but they will be receiving not only legal anabolics but clean and effective ones as well. Steroids such as testosterone of most forms, Deca-Durabolin, Anadrol, Anavar and Winstrol are common place as well as the powerful peptide hormone Human Growth Hormone. Yes, you will pay a far greater price in comparison to black market gear but you will be within the safety of the law and that makes this a very good deal indeed and one of the highest recommended outlets for those looking to buy steroids.

Many simply buy steroids from a friend at the gym; small steroid sales at most any gym are very common place but this does fall into the black market category in countries such as the U.S. As most of the gym sources are middle-men for middle-men the price is often very, very high. There are not too many steroid sources that sell openly in a gym, in most cases it's simply an individual who made a purchase from a source and is now reselling it to turn a small profit; it's not uncommon for this gear to change hands a multitude of times before it makes it to you and when it does you their own. However, to buy the ingredients you'll need such as raw steroid powder, this purchase will be just as illegal in the United States as actually buying ready to use anabolic hormones. Many people believe this route is safer because you will not be dealing with a typical underground source and there is some truth to this assumption. Normally buying a little powder for your own personal use will go unnoticed and if you have the ability to make sterile gear you'll not only have a very cheaply obtained steroid but effective as well. Even so, you need to understand you are not safe by any means simply because you follow this protocol; if you are caught, even though you did not buy directly from a standard source you're going to be in more trouble than if you did. In countries such as the U.S. you can now be charged with manufacturing; a much more serious charge than simple possession. For this reason and while we will not recommend any illegal route, when it comes time to buy steroids this may be one of the most dangerous avenues of all.

The Bottom Line:

There are a lot of options and each one we've discussed runs much deeper and in several different directions; it's unfortunate that buying cigarettes is a much simpler process than the desire to buy steroids is for the everyday guy. Even so, there are legal avenues, you can obtain quality and potent anabolic supplements as we have discussed; yes, you read that correctly, "Supplements" in-truth they are simply supplements we use to aid in what we're already doing right. If you are looking for a quality, legal, very powerful and effective anabolic supplement, visit the banner above. If you've never used an anabolic supplement before be prepared to be amazed! If increased strength, increased muscle mass, a ripped physique and simply a better overall physique is what you're after, you'll be hard pressed to find better anabolic supplements than in the banner above.

Regardless of your decision in-terms of where you make a purchase, if you decide to buy steroids you should consult with your doctor first to make sure you are healthy enough for use. Those who already suffer from high blood pressure or high cholesterol will need to remedy this problem before use begins as steroid use can exasperate it.

The information your site

Clen® has been formulated with beta-2 receptor stimulation in mind and is designed to promote a simultaneously thermogenic and lipolysis effect. This action provides a significant metabolic boost and creates an internal environment that is perfect for fat loss. Not only does Clen® effectively help burn stubborn body fat, it can significantly reduce and help you control your hunger and cravings. A stronger and more powerful metabolism with more appetite control means one thing - Clen® will help you reach the lean physique you crave!

Surprisingly to some, Clen® is also a great tool for those who are looking to build up muscle mass or who are in what's commonly known as a "bulking phase." Gaining too much body fat is a common problem when bulking, but Clen® will help you control the unwanted fat gain so that your gains are of a higher quality. Athletes, be it high performance or endurance, will find Clen® to be invaluable as it has been designed to promote cardiovascular endurance and stamina, which means you will breath easier. All athletes from all walks of life will also find Clen® provides a significant boost of energy, which is always welcomed when training.

If you want to lose body fat, if you're looking to enhance your athletic performance or if you simply need a boost of energy or appetite control, you will find Clen® is the top choice to meet your needs. A highly effective product when used alone, the effects of Maximum Strength Clen® are a perfect addition to any performance stack.

Clen® was scientifically formulated to help:

- Rapidly Remove Body Fat*
- Efficiently Burn Fat Calories*
- Stimulate Fat Cells to Enhance the Breakdown of Triglycerides*
- Improve Stamina and Endurance*
- Safely and Substantially Reduce Appetite*

Directions For Use: This product contains 90 capsules and is designed to be a 30 day cycle. Take 1 capsule 3 times daily with 8 ounces of water. Doses should be spaced evenly throughout the day.

There is no other way to describe our D-Anabol 25™ other than by hailing it the "King of Mass!" D-Anabol 25™ is hands down the most popular and effective size and strength gaining compound currently available.

Our fast acting D-Anabol 25™ was designed for the athlete that desires to become bigger and stronger in the shortest possible time and who is more concerned with size and strength than with a leaned out look. Although our formula for D-Anabol 25™ is not known to cause severe bloating or water retention, it most certainly has been known to generate some incredible muscle pumps and pack on pounds of high quality dense muscle.

Watch Tren-75® Video

The highly absorbable Tren 75® is in a class by itself, and is arguably one of the most potent muscle building formulations we have ever developed. Tren 75® will ensure its users the ability to achieve explosive strength and power, while maintaining a lean, hard and vascular appearance without unwanted "Water Retention" or Bloating.

One of the most frequently reported traits of our Tren 75® is how incredibly strong and powerful its users feel while maintaining a "Hard" and "Vascular" appearance. Tren 75® is the perfect choice when getting ready for summer, or for the high performance athlete that wants explosive power and strength without excessive weight gain.

Buy Steroids

They are often misunderstood but due to the nature of effects and benefits millions worldwide buy steroids every day.

an estimated 6 million Americans buy steroids every year and a multitude of millions more the world over. Anabolic steroid use is not something new, athletes have been supplementing with them regularly since the 1950's and heavily since the 1970's increasing every year. Even before the advent of true synthetic steroid use for hundreds of years athletes supplemented with testicular extract looking for an advantage and hundreds of years later nothing has changed; the advantage is still desired. The question remains, with the hoopla that surrounds them use continues to increase but for many where to buy steroids is as complicated as trying figure out how to build a refrigerator box that will fly to the moon. There are several options you have when it comes time to make a purchase and we will discuss them all but if you're looking for legal and powerful anabolic tools we highly recommend you click on the banner above.

Buy Steroids on the Black Market:

It is one of the most common avenues of anabolic androgenic steroid purchase and it is without question often the most dangerous. With more underground labs than we can count there is a lot of dirty gear, fake gear and under-dosed gear on the black market; the majority of it is pure garbage. However, the prices are often so cheap compared to other avenues many risk the purchase only to be left disappointed in the end. Absolutely, there are some good sources on the black market who sell quality gear but the amount of poor sources is a plague. Further and this is beyond important, in countries such as the United States purchasing anabolic steroids on the black market is illegal; it doesn't matter if they're from an underground lab or a human grade source, in both cases it is illegal and serious consequences can occur if you buy steroids in this fashion.

Buy Steroids from your Doctor:

Many men who suffer from low testosterone legally buy steroids from their own doctor or a hormone replacement clinic every day. Granted, they will not be allowed to buy the amounts commonly associated with heavy performance enhancing but they will be receiving not only legal anabolics but clean and effective ones as well. Steroids such as testosterone of most forms, Deca-Durabolin, Anadrol, Anavar and Winstrol are common place as well as the powerful peptide hormone Human Growth Hormone. Yes, you will pay a far greater price in comparison to black market gear but you will be within the safety of the law and that makes this a very good deal indeed and one of the highest recommended outlets for those looking to buy steroids.

Many simply buy steroids from a friend at the gym; small steroid sales at most any gym are very common place but this does fall into the black market category in countries such as the U.S. As most of the gym sources are middle-men for middle-men the price is often very, very high. There are not too many steroid sources that sell openly in a gym, in most cases it's simply an individual who made a purchase from a source and is now reselling it to turn a small profit; it's not uncommon for this gear to change hands a multitude of times before it makes it to you and when it does you could pay 3-4 times the normal rate.

Making your own Steroids:

Making your own Steroids:

For numerous reasons many individuals forgo buying steroids on the black market or from a doctor and simply make their own. However, to buy the ingredients you'll need such as raw steroid powder, this purchase will be just as illegal in the United States as actually buying ready to use anabolic hormones. Many people believe this route is safer because you will not be dealing with a typical underground source and there is some truth to this assumption. Normally buying a little powder for your own personal use will go unnoticed and if you have the ability to make sterile gear you'll not only have a very cheaply obtained steroid but effective as well. Even so, you need to understand you are not safe by any means simply because you follow this protocol; if you are caught, even though you did not buy directly from a standard source you're going to be in more trouble than if you did. In countries such as the U.S. you can now be charged with manufacturing, a much more serious charge than simple possession. For this reason and while we will not recommend any illegal route, when it comes time to buy steroids this may be one of the most dangerous avenues of all.

The Bottom Line:

There are a lot of options and each one we've discussed runs much deeper and in several different directions: it's unfortunate that buying cigarettes is a much simpler process than the desire to buy steroids is for the everyday guy. Even so, there are legal avenues, you can obtain quality and potent anabolic supplements as we have discussed; yes, you read that correctly, "Supplements" in-truth they are simply supplements we use to aid in what we're already doing right. If you are looking for a quality, legal, very powerful and effective anabolic supplement, visit the banner above. If you've never used an anabolic supplement before be prepared to be amazed! If increased strength, increased muscle mass, a ripped physique and simply a better overall physique is what you're after, you'll be hard pressed to find better anabolic supplements than in the banner above.

Regardless of your decision in-terms of where you make a purchase, if you decide to buy steroids you should consult with your doctor first to make sure you are healthy enough for use. Those who already suffer from high blood pressure or high cholesterol will need to remedy this problem before use begins as steroid use can exasperate it.

Now we are going to ask you some questions about some of the products shown on the webpage you just viewed. Here is the webpage again.

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the Steroids.com website. The browser's address bar shows the URL <http://www.steroids.com/>. The website's header features the "STEROIDS.COM" logo with the tagline "The World's #1 Supplier of Extreme Muscle Builders!". Below the logo, there is a navigation bar with links for HOME, ALL PRODUCTS, ABOUT US, STACK INFO, View Cart, CONTACT US, YOUR ACCOUNT, and HELP. A banner below the navigation bar lists payment methods (Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Discover) and states "SECURE BILLING AND SHIPPING | CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED | INTERNATIONAL SHIPPING AVAILABLE". A gold seal on the right side of the banner reads "Steroid.com APPROVED".

The main content area includes a search bar with a "Search" button and links for "Advanced Search" and "Search Tips". Below the search bar are social media buttons for "Recommend" and "Share" on Facebook, and a "Tweet" button on Twitter. A section titled "OUR PRODUCTS" lists "Tren 75 @", "Test-600x @", and "Deca 200 @".

A large promotional banner in the center features a row of product bottles and the text "PICK THREE! PRODUCTS OF YOUR CHOICE AND SAVE $$$ BUY NOW!". Below this banner, a warning states: "We sell only the highest quality muscle building anabolic dietary supplements. These anabolic dietary supplements have not been approved for sale or use by the FDA.  Warning: Deca-Durabolan, Dianabol, Winstrol, Clenbuterol, Anavar and Trenbolone are toxic Anabolic Steroids **".

Now we are going to ask you some questions about some of the products shown on the webpage you just viewed. Here is the webpage again.

The screenshot shows the homepage of MuscleBuildingProducts.com. The browser address bar displays <http://www.musclebuildingproducts.com/>. The website header includes the company logo, tagline "Advanced Science of Muscle Building", and payment logos for Visa, MasterCard, American Express, and Discover. A navigation menu lists: HOME, ALL PRODUCTS, ABOUT US, STACK INFO, CONTACT US, YOUR ACCOUNT, HELP, and VIEW CART. A secondary banner reads "The Web's #1 Source For Muscle Building Products" and "Secure Billing & Shipping | International Available".

The main content area features a disclaimer: "We sell only the highest quality muscle building supplements. These supplements have not been approved for sale or use by the FDA." Below this, there are three product recommendations:

- PICK THREE!: A promotion for "PRODUCTS OF YOUR CHOICE AND SAVE $$$" showing a row of various supplement bottles.
- Orange: A product description stating it is "Designed to increase IGF-1. This is the most effective product we have ever developed... PERIOD. This amazing product has almost too many benefits to list and should be used by anyone looking for dramatic results in health and fitness."
- Light Blue (extra strength): A product description stating it is "Formulated for Overall Muscle Growth, Strength, and Size. This is one of the most effective and Fast-Acting products we carry and was designed to help improve your performance at almost every level of physical enhancement. Experience this top..."

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the Anabolics.com website. The address bar shows the URL: <http://www.anabolics.com/categories/All-Products/Clen/WFh082fHNow>. The website header features the Anabolics.com logo with the tagline "Advanced Science of Muscle Building". To the right of the logo is a "STERIOD.COM #1 LEGAL ALTERNATIVE TOP PICK" seal. Further right are logos for VISA, MasterCard, American Express, and Discover. Below these logos is the text "The Web's #1 Source For Muscle Building Anabolics" and "Secure Billing & Shipping | International Available". The navigation bar includes links for HOME, ALL PRODUCTS, ABOUT US, STACK INFO, CONTACT US, YOUR ACCOUNT, HELP, and VIEW CART.

On the left side, there is a sidebar with social media sharing options (SHARE, Recommend, Share) and a list of products under the heading "OUR PRODUCTS": Test-600x™, Tren 75®, Deca 200®, D-Anabol 25™, Winn 50®, Var 10®, Clen®, and Pituitary Growth Hormone™. Below this list is a red button that says "Watch Customer TESTIMONIALS".

The main content area features a "WINTER SALE" banner with the text "CLICK HERE FOR LIMITED TIME OFFERS!". Below the banner is a red circular "HELP" button and a "Product Wizard" link. The text reads: "We sell only the highest quality muscle building anabolic supplements. These anabolic supplements have not been approved for sale or use by the FDA." Below this is a breadcrumb trail: Home > All Products > Clen®.

The product title is "Clen® - (Fat Loss, Stamina, Endurance, Energy, Appetite Control)". Below the title is a "Watch video" link. The text states: "When it comes to burning body fat and increasing stamina, nothing is more powerfully effective than Maximum Strength Clen®." Below this is another paragraph: "There are numerous fat loss products on the market, stimulants and fat burners alike, but Maximum Strength Clen® is truly unique for one very special reason IT WORKS IT ABSOLUTELY WORKS!". To the right of the text is an image of a white bottle of Clen®.

While we carry a host of the most effective and powerful muscle building products on the market, our most popularly requested formula is our Maximum Strength Clen® and the reasons are straightforward:

Clen® has been formulated with beta-2 receptor stimulation in mind and is designed to promote a simultaneously thermogenic and lipolysis effect. This action provides a significant metabolic boost and creates an internal environment that is perfect for fat loss. Not only does Clen® effectively help burn stubborn body fat, it can significantly reduce and help you control your hunger and cravings. A stronger and more powerful metabolism with more appetite control means one thing - Clen® will help you reach the lean physique you crave!

Surprisingly to some, Clen® is also a great tool for those who are looking to build up muscle mass or who are in what's commonly known as a "bulking phase." Gaining too much body fat is a common problem when bulking, but Clen® will help you control the unwanted fat gain so that your gains are of a higher quality. Athletes, be it high performance or endurance, will find Clen® to be invaluable as it has been designed to promote cardiovascular endurance and stamina, which means you will breath easier. All athletes from all walks of life will also find Clen® provides a significant boost of energy, which is always welcomed when training.

If you want to lose body fat, if you're looking to enhance your athletic performance or if you simply need a boost of energy or appetite control, you will find Clen® is the top choice to meet your needs. A highly effective product when used alone, the effects of Maximum Strength Clen® are a perfect addition to any performance stack.

Clen® was scientifically formulated to help:

- Rapidly Remove Body Fat*
- Efficiently Burn Fat Calories*
- Stimulate Fat Cells to Enhance the Breakdown of Triglycerides*
- Improve Stamina and Endurance*
- Safely and Substantially Reduce Appetite*

Directions For Use: This product contains 90 capsules and is designed to be a 30 day cycle. Take 1 capsule 3 times daily with 8 ounces of water. Doses should be spaced evenly throughout the day.

A "Watch Customer" button is at the bottom of the sidebar.

The main content area features a "WINTER SALE" banner with the text "CLICK HERE FOR LIMITED TIME OFFERS!". Below the banner is a disclaimer: "We sell only the highest quality muscle building anabolic supplements. These anabolic supplements have not been approved for sale or use by the FDA." To the right of the disclaimer is a "HELP" button and a "Find The Right Product With Our Product Wizard" link.

The product title is "D-Anabol 25™ - (Mass, Strength, Size, Power)". Below the title is a "Watch Video" link. The product description states: "There is no other way to describe our D-Anabol 25™ other than by hailing it the 'King of Mass!' D-Anabol 25™ is hands down the most popular and effective size and strength gaining compound currently available." Below the description is a small image of a white bottle of D-Anabol 25.

Aug 19, 2010

This is the third time I have purchased these products from this site, they have always arrived here in Australia and have produced excellent results.

Our fast acting D-Anabol 25™ was designed for the athlete that desires to become bigger and stronger in the shortest possible time and who is more concerned with size and strength than with a leaner look. Although our formula for D-Anabol 25™ is not known to cause severe bloating or water retention, it most certainly has been known to generate some incredible muscle pumps and pack on pounds of high quality dense muscle.

For those looking for the size, power, and strength of D-Anabol 25™ but want to have a more defined look, try adding our popular Tren 75® with Clen® to get the best of both worlds.*

If size and strength is what you are craving, D-Anabol 25™ is precisely what you are looking for. Scientifically engineered to consistently deliver superior results, D-Anabol 25™ was formulated to help you reach your goals by:

D-Anabol 25™ was designed for:

- Providing Hard and Nourishing Muscle Pumps*
- Generating Solid, High Quality Muscle Tissue*
- Employing a Fast-Acting Mass Formula*
- Improving Nitrogen Retention for Muscle Repair and Growth*
- Boosting Major Lifts and Enhancing Overall Strength*

Directions For Use: This product contains 90 capsules and is designed to be a 30 day cycle. Take 1 capsule 3 times daily with 8 ounces of water. Doses should be spaced evenly throughout the day.

Tren 75® - (Muscle Hardening, Power, Vascularity, Fat Burning)

Watch Tren-75® Video

The highly absorbable Tren 75® is in a class by itself, and is arguably one of the most potent muscle building formulations we have ever developed. Tren 75® will ensure its users the ability to achieve explosive strength and power, while maintaining a lean, hard and vascular appearance without unwanted "Water Retention" or Bloating.

One of the most frequently reported traits of our Tren 75® is how incredibly strong and powerful its users feel while maintaining a "Hard" and "Vascular" appearance. Tren 75® is the perfect choice when getting ready for summer, or for the high performance athlete that wants explosive power and strength without excessive weight gain.

One of the most frequently reported traits of our Tren 75® is how incredibly strong and powerful its users feel while maintaining a "Hard" and "Vascular" appearance. Tren 75® is the perfect choice when getting ready for summer, or for the high performance athlete that wants explosive power and strength without excessive weight gain.

A unique property of Tren 75® is its amazing ability to help incinerate stubborn body fat while increasing appetite and continuing to add high quality lean muscle, which makes it one of our most popular products currently available.

Tren 75® whether stacked or taken alone will help provide you with Dry, Lean, Hard Muscle of the highest quality.

*Tren 75® was designed and formulated to:

- Generate Near Instant Metabolic Results*
- Increase Appetite and Optimize Nutrient Absorption*
- Produce Dry, Vascular, Dense Muscle, While Hardening and Cutting*
- Improve Nitrogen Retention in Muscle Tissue*
- Eliminate Muscle Blurring "Water Retention" and Bloat*
- Incinerate Body Fat While Maintaining Muscle Mass*

Directions For Use: This product contains 90 capsules and is designed to be a 30 day cycle. Take 1 capsule 3 times daily with 8 ounces of water. Doses should be spaced evenly throughout the day.

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the MuscleBuildingProducts.com website. The address bar shows the URL: http://www.musclebuildingproducts.com/categories/All-Products/Tren-75/*?WT.mc_id=MPNow. The browser's menu bar includes File, Edit, View, Favorites, Tools, and Help. The website header features the logo "MuscleBuildingProducts.com" with the tagline "Advanced Science of Muscle Building". To the right of the logo are logos for VISA, MasterCard, American Express, and Discover. Below the logo, it states "The Web's #1 Source For Muscle Building Products" and "Secure Billing & Shipping | International Available". The navigation bar includes links: HOME, ALL PRODUCTS, ABOUT US, STACK INFO, CONTACT US, YOUR ACCOUNT, HELP, and a shopping cart icon labeled VIEW CART.

On the left side, there is a sidebar with social media sharing options (SHARE, Recommend, Share) and a list of "OUR PRODUCTS": Test-600x™, Tren 75®, Deca 200®, D-Anabol 25™, Winn 50®, Var 10®, Clen®, and Pituitary Growth Hormone™. At the bottom of the sidebar is a red button that says "Watch Customer TESTIMONIALS".

The main content area features a "WINTER SALE" banner with the text "CLICK HERE FOR LIMITED TIME OFFERS!". Below the banner, it states: "We sell only the highest quality muscle building supplements. These supplements have not been approved for sale or use by the FDA." A breadcrumb trail shows: Home > All Products > Tren 75®. The product name "Tren 75®" is displayed prominently. Below it is a link to "Watch Tren-75® Video". A paragraph of text reads: "The highly absorbable Tren 75® is in a class by itself. Tren 75® is the perfect choice when getting ready for summer, or for the high". To the right of the text is an image of a white plastic bottle of Tren 75®.
